[For the News]

SKATING.

BY O. E. PERRY.

I have a friend named "John."

Meeting him the other day;—said I "John can you skate?"

"Oh yes", he replied confidently; "that is," he added reflectively," I used to skate, but I must confess that my performances on ice now are not remarkably brilliant."

John is fast approaching that grade of flesh, which butchers characterize, in talking of cattle, as "extra."

He stood with hands clasped behind him, which, with coat tails falling over, reminded one of the eaves of a house. My question had evidently awakened a train of reflections not altogether joyous. The fire was warm, which was probably the cause of his changing his position with a celerity excelling his dignity.

"I was thinking," he said, placing his hand cautiously on that part of his body which we must recognize as the cornice, if we call his coat tails the eaves, "I was thinking of the first time I ever had on a pair of skates, and," he aded with a candor for which I reverence him, "I was also thinking of the last time I ever had on a pair."

"My first skates were a Christmas present from my aunt, and you can judge whether I did any skating on the kitchen floor, and perhaps you can form an estimate of the number of times my ears were cuffed, and I sent off to bed for this misdemeanor. If you can, you are a good mathematician."

"Finally, one cold Saturday, I got Caleb, our hired man, to go out behind the barn where a small pond was well frozen over, and teach me how to skate. The day was fearfully cold, and I well remember how Caleb made mouths at Jack Frost, and struck imaginary blows at him in his endeavors to keep his blood in brisk circulation. I kneeled down on the ice, placing my mittens under my knee, (I recollect well how damp and cold they were when I put them on,) and finally succeeded in screwing and strapping the instruments of torture upon my feet. I then got up, Caleb holding me up by the coat tail. I found that the skates, which had seemed so innocent and harmless on the kitchen floor, were not to be trusted on ice. They had a way of going off on their own responsibility without so much as saying "by your leave," that was not calculated to inspire confidence, and what made the feature still more unpleasant, one foot always seemed to get the start of the other. Then my heels were not long enough, or else they were very slippery.

"'Strike out John,' said Caleb, 'and you'll get along well enough. You will never learn to skate that way.' My efforts thus far had been rather monotonous, having been principally confined to insane plunges and stumbles as I endeavored to prevent dashing my brains out, or separation of body lengthwise by reason of my legs taken opposite directions. I accordingly struck out with a cheerfulness, equalled only by the rapid movements I executed, when I plunged my head into the pit of Caleb's stomach, disturbing his centre of gravity so much, as to cause his rolling with me on the ice, in a most idiotic manner.

"'Hold on John, he cried,'as he regained his breath and his feet, and 'hold on' I did to my nearest object which proved to be the lower part of Caleb's pantaloons.

"'Hold on, I say. You pretty much killed me. You'll have me down again in a minute, if you don't let go, this ice is confounded slippery.' I didn't need any convincing argument about the ice, my mind was already made up.

"'Get up,' said Caleb, and get up I did with his assistance.

"He seemed averse to going partnerships in the skating business any more, and made such inflammatory remarks as 'you're a dangerous feller, you are' 'You like to a knocked my inwards out'' etc. etc.

"After beating my head industriously against the ice some half a dozen more times, and becoming exceedingly tender and sensitive in that portion of my frame which was of the most use in sitting down, I went to the house.

"But I learned to skate that winter, and skated through the seminary, and through college as one may say. I have not been on skates, with one exception, in twenty-three years, for I don't mind confessing to you old fellow that I am forty-five. Last winter I was down to the cove one cold day and a crowd of young fellows and girls were there skating. I supposed, of course, that I could skate as well as I could twenty-five years ago, and concluded to show the boys and girls a trick or two. I put on the skates of a young red-headed country chap, agreeing to pay him a quarter of a dollar for half an hour's use of them.

"I buckled them on with the serene confidence of mature idiocy, and arose to an upright position to find my left foot going off at right angles at a fearful rate of speed, and my right foot following it slowly, but evidently losing ground all the time. I lifted my right foot, and attempted to strike out as I used to do, but was surprised to observe that the sun was nearly overhead, and the ice rather damp.

"I arose to my feet and beckoned to the young man who owned the skates. I now found, Winkle-like, I had an extra quarter I didn't need, and suggested to the red headed young man, that if he would let me put my hand on his shoulder and steady myself, until I got the hang of my skates, I might be induced to part with said quarter. "He came readily, there was no Mr. Pickwick to claim his services. But he did not get there soon enough. My skates began to go again, and I with them very much against my will. The wind was blowing heavily and I was soon speeding to leeward, with a celerity unequalled, I am led to believe, in the annals of skating. I could neither stop, nor change my direction, and I was fast approaching a group of young people, who evidently supposed I was coming purposely, and, therefore, did not attempt to avoid me. I did not have time to shout an alarm before I was upon them. I remembered that I used to change my course by a grand sweep of one foot.—I accordingly attempted to make this sweep with my left foot.

"I do not recollect every circumstance in the melee that followed. It was rather mixed up at the time. My right arm was thrust through the hoops of an indignant young female. I am quite sure that I heard profane remarks from a young gentleman whom I had nearly crippled by driving the heel of my skate into his shin. The rest of the company declared they were not hurt in the least. I lied with serene cheerfulness when I assured them I was not. I even went so far as to say that it was all a joke, and that I did it on purpose. Some war-like demonstrations on the part of the young man with the hole in his shin caused me to retract this statement, and confirm the general impression that it was an awkward accident. By this time the red-headed young man came up, and while I grasped him firmly by the collar he attempted to tow me away. My will went in the direction he was going, my skates, much to my disgust, in an exactly opposite direction. After a few seconds of vain opposition, I found my heels rising up and my toes going out from under me. I clutched frantically at my support catching him by the hair. The next moment I was sitting on the ice, gazing heavenward, thinking in the utter confidence of inanity, that it was night, and I, an astronomer, investigating the phenomenon of the Milky Way. When I arose, I found the coat collar of my country tug in one hand, and a lock of red hair in the other. He was looking at the ice, and rubbing the back of his head. I noticed that he kept at a goodly distance from me, and though he did it in a quiet undemonstrative sort of way, he was evidently lamenting the loss of that hair.

"I remarked in a casual manner that a quarter was not much, and I should be inclined to be liberal with the man that got me ashore in good shape. While I was making involuntary starts in different directions, but the young man dodged me with commendable skill.

"Money", he profoundly remarked, 'is money, and is all very well, but at the same time hair is hair, and I don't want to wear a wig for seventy-five cents. I guess old buffer you had better take them skates off and try to get ashore flat footed.' I took them off, and went ashore, flat footed.'

"I paid him the fifty cents, and gave him an extra quarter besides, to compensate him for the loss of his hair, but even then, though he was resigned, I cannot candidly say he seemed cheerful. You can bet long odds I don't get another pair of skates on, while I am in my senses."

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

What will the Woodhulls, Howes, Stones or Tiltons say now? A petition signed by 3,000 women has been presented to the Senate by Mr. Buckingham, protesting against female suffrage. That petition might have been signed by tens of thousands of sensible women as well, for there are plenty ready to attach their names to such a production. Such protests are a convincing proof that the vast majority of the respectable, sensible women of this country do not want the ballot. It is only the men-women,—the Woodhulls, Claflins and a few other deluded individuals who are clamoring for this privilege.

The Tribune says the defeat of Trumbull's resolution in the Senate "is one of those unfortunate errors with which super-serviceable friends continually damage the best of causes. It places the Administration in a false position before the country. We once more protest against this suicidal policy, and we appeal to the President to lose no time in relieving himself from the fatally false position in which, whether mistakenly or willfully, his special friends have placed not only himself but a great party." What a pity it is that Horace would not write a book on "What I know about the Presidency." It might be used then as a text book by all future chief magistrates.

The anti-Grant men are at work. A report from New York says that a convention of sore heads is to be held in that city soon, when they will agree upon the measures to be adopted in the State legislature and also at Washington. Senator Fenton we are told is at the head of the enterprise and they hope to get control of the speakership of the New York assembly. Thereby they will get the committees and will have the control of the state. We hope their machination will come to nought.

The report of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, embodying the result of the investigation into the late fire, has been published. It contains few new facts and little valuable information. The Commissioners report that the fire originated in the barn of the Leary House, foot of DeKoven street, but are unable to ascribe it to any agency, human or divine. The awful havoc of the fire is attributed to the high southwest wind that prevailed and the combustible character of the materials entering largely into the construction of the buildings in the burnt district. The members of the Fire Department are praised for their energy and efficiency.

Under the new appointment act, to take effect with the forty-third congress, the New England states will have twenty-six members, a loss of one from their present quota; the Middle states will have sixty-five, a gain of five. The border and slave states, except Missouri, eighty-nine, a gain of thirteen; the western states and Missouri, one hundred and three, a gain of twenty-three. From this it will be readily seen that the power of the west is on the increase, while New England is correspondingly decreasing.

THE VICTORIA LEAGUE.

Mrs. Victoria W. Blood, alias Woodhull, was announced some time since as the candidate of the Victoria League for President. Nobody then knew who constituted the said League, and it was therefore impossible to tell how powerful a candidate Mrs. Blood, alias Woodhull, might be. It now turns out that the league consists of Mrs Blood alias Woodhull, Miss Jennie Claflin, Theodore Tilton, and Demosthenes. The friends of Gen. Grant must be on the lookout against this formidable combination. If these persons should now join hands with George Francis Train and Daniel Pratt, the alliance would be complete. Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS.

If you wish to make any purchases, don't go away from home to do it. Encourage home industry and enterprize, and give your trade to merchants and mechanics, especially to those who advertise freely. That is the way to build up a lively business in your own town, and benefit yourself as well as others. Every dollar spent in town is of advantage to the place in general, and every dollar spent abroad for articles which could be bought on as favorable terms at home, is like taking so much capital out of the business interests of the place. There are some that we know of who buy everything they possibly can, right here at home; and such are doing a good work toward assisting their own town people—those with whom they have a common interest.

The Late Mrs. Sydney Brooks.

"Died, at Newport, R. I., on the evening of November 30, 1871, Frances Dalton, wife of Sidney Brooks."

She whose departure we so keenly regret was subjected to a test of character which only the most pure, kind and faithful natures can bear unscathed. Her life was singularly prosperous and happy; so much so that in her last hours she deemed it unchristian to complain of the summons that desolated a household and saddened a host of friends, deprived society of an ornament and life of a benignant presence. To what causes may we ascribe her exceptional influence and her reign of love? To unwavering principles of duty, to a just and generous disposition, to a wise culture and a true heart. Educated at a period when female accomplishments were more solid and serene than those to which the present generation aspire, she acquired a knowledge and appreciation of English literature under the teaching of that fine scholar and gentleman Dr. Park, who, recognising her capacity, delighting in storing her mind with the choicest examples of our vernacular. To this wholesome discipline and resource was soon added the best fruits of continental travel in Europe. At the soirees of Madame Recamier, at the villa of a highly-educated Italian family on Lago Maggiore, in the highest circles of London, her mind expanded and became enriched with acquisitions and associations that made her the genial companion of the most cultivated foreigners, while her friends and connections at home including men who stand high on the roll of American scholars and statesmen. Hence an uncommon breadth and versatility of mind made her society as charming as it was cheering. With an inborn love of study and conversation she united a sense of social duty which made her a centre and a magnet to kindred minds. Nor was this all. She deeply felt the obligations arising independent position to promote the happiness of others, old and young, rich and poor. Unselfish by nature, with a rectitude of purpose nothing could modify, she moved in the domestic circle and amid her chosen friends with a cordial, consistent cheerful sympathy that made her home a scene of unvarying enjoyment. Few in this world so often and so instinctively made "sunshine in a shady place" for the lonely the discontented and the baffled. While outwardly pursuing the conventional course which custom and wealth prescribe to the life of society, she yet obeyed a higher law, and was true to a noble mission as daughter, wife and friend, to what extent and how thoroughly is known, only to those who now find themselves bereft of another comfort, a charm and a cheer which can never be equally supplied to their longing hearts again. Social benignities like these, so habitual and so vivid, are what redeem life to the consciousness of the intelligent and the true hearted. Let us be grateful they have been ours, and cherish the example now that it is hallowed by a death met with the tranquil trust of faith and love. [N. Y. Post.

Prussia's Naval Establishment.

The German government is busily at work improving harbors and constructing a fleet of war vessels. The war harbor on the Jahde has been accessible to vessels of the heaviest draught since December last, and there are now excellent docks capable of receiving the largest men of war. The naval station at Wilhelmshaven has been complete for some months. The harbor of Ellerbeck, near Kiel, is not yet complete, but is making rapid progress.—The fortification works at the various ports have been pushed on with energy. One iron clad ship has been completed, and three iron clad frigates of large size are in course of construction. Several corvettes have been completed, others are being built, and orders have been given for more gunboats. Two vessels manned by cadets are crossing the Atlantic, and two training brigs, with sailor boys on board, are cruising in the Portuguese and Spanish waters, while the gunners and engineers are practicing on separate vessels at Kiel.

Suffering of Emigrants.

A Kansas paper says that the new settlers in the Solomon valley have suffered severely from cold and storms. The fall immigration was very large. Many families arrived just before the late storm, and the suffering among them is terrible. Having no houses they are compelled to live in their "moving wagons;" and the suffering among the women and children, particularly, is very severe. To add to the hardship of the situation, the people are almost entirely destitute of food—many of them having scarcely tasted of a mouthful of bread since reaching the valley. They are trying to subsist mainly upon such game as they may be able to secure.

Mark Twain Barbarously Treated.

The Rochester Democrat tells this story: The many admirers of Mark Twain among our readers will be delighted to hear that he got into a very bad scrape at Syracuse the other day. One Jacob Gilgal, a gentleman of tonsorial proclivities, having read Mark Twain's vicious article on the peculiar habits of barbers, swore vengence against the great humorist if he should ever get him within sweep of his razor blade. Mark came to Syracuse to lecture, and as Jacob kept the best shop in the city, dropped in to get shaved. The barber knew his customer and went at him vigorously, giving him such a dressing as Neptune gives green hands on crossing the line. It was a shave such as the old song describes the Irishmans getting from the monkey who had assumed control of the barber shop while his master was away to dinner. Mark escaped after half an hour of torture, and will rather have his hair burnt off with a coal of fire, like Dionysius the Sicilian tyrant, than let any one approach him with a razor again. He is beginning to regard with favor the higher civilization of the Sandwich Islands, where the ladies take two fish scales between finger and thumb and pluck out their lord and master's beard, hair by hair, whilst he takes his siesta in the sun.

A Change of Owners.

A wealthy and worthy colored man of of New York, who has amassed a handsome fortune by many years of hard labor, will go to Oconee county, South Carolina, at Christmas, prepared to purchase a plantation, which is to be sold on the first Monday in January, if he can get it at any reasonable price. It contains 1100 acres, with a dwelling and outhouses; is known as "Fort Hill," and was the homestead of John C. Calhoun. Should it become the property of a colored man, it will show that "the world moves."

ABOUT HOME,

—This is the kind of weather with which we can readily sympathize.

—Now is the time to subscribe for your next year's magazines.

—The work on "Hayward Avenue" through the Sears estate is progressing finely.

—A vigorous movement is on foot to lay out Barney street as a public highway, from spring street to Whitfield court.

—"We are seven," was the motto of the Fall River excursionists a few evenings since.

—That extra train from Fall River, to bring down the expected hosts of G. A. R., last night, did not make its appearance.

—The Rev. M. Van Horne will address the temperance meeting tomorrow evening, at Eureka Hall, at half past five.

—From one to two dozen old barrels in front of a store, are not very ornamental to the neighborhoods where they are allowed to remain.

—The boys and girls who are just learning to skate will sympathize with the individual mentioned in the story, on the outside of the NEWS today.

—Government is turning its attention to Life Saving Stations and it is now expected that one of those much needed institutions will be erected on this side of the bay.

—Our readers will do well to remember the assignee's sale of the estate of Thos. M. Norman, on Spring street, on Tuesday next. This is a very desirable estate, and one conveniently located.

—Rev. Charles H. Titus, formerly Presiding Elder of this district, was elected Recording Grand Secretary of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Free Masons, at their meeting in Boston on Wednesday.

—William P. Sheffield, of this city, and Abraham Payne and Wingate Hayes, of Providence, commissioners to revise the laws of the State, will present a report at an early period in the January session of the General Assembly.

—People who are accustomed to leave their horses standing on the Parade, should remember that the old fountain has been removed. Many teams within the last few days, when left in that vicinity, have started for their former drinking place, and have seemed much disappointed at finding it gone.

—The boys are happy. It is Saturday and no disagreeable school book claims their attention, consequently coasting is in order. But look out boys and don't slide on the sidewalks or in the main traveled streets. For there is danger of your doing damage if you do; besides the city marshal will have an eye on you and you will do well to keep out of his way.

A STRANGE CASE.—Deacon John Barker of Middletown and member of the Second Baptist church in this city, is the subject of a singular misfortune. It appears that he has been in his usual health until quite recently when he went in the cars as far as Taunton and upon his return found it impossible to use his voice in the least. His friends and physician feel much anxiety for him and it is thought he has paralysis of the vocal organs. Deacon Barker is well known and respected in the community and we hope the case will not prove so serious as it at present appears.

THE SMALL POX.—It is now understood that this disease has entirely disappeared from our city. When we consider the number of cases that appeared almost simultaneously in different sections of the city, it is a matter of surprise as well as congratulation that the scourge has passed away with so few disastrous results. The public cannot award too much praise to the authorities for the prompt and efficient action taken in the case. His Honor, Mayor Atkinson and the members of the Board of Health, together with Dr. H. E. Turner, the city physician, have been unremitting in their attention to the wants of the patients and in their efforts to preserve the city from the spread of the contagion. Had it not been for their wise course Newport might have had as many cases to-day as existed in Lowell where the supervision was less direct and less efficient. The Overseer of the Small Pox, Mr. Jere. Goodspeed, has also performed his part well and should not be forgotten. His is an uncomfortable office but it has been demonstrated anew that it is a necessity and that he is the proper man to fill it. We trust it may be a long time before his services shall be again needed.

The First Printed Book.

It is a remarkable and most interesting fact that the very first use to which the discovery of printing was applied was the production of the Bible. This was accomplished at Mentz, between the years 1450 and 1455. Gottenburg was the inventor of the art, and Faust, a goldsmith, furnished the necessary funds. Had it been a single page, or an entire sheet, which was then produced, there might have been less occasion to have noticed it; but there was something in the whole character of the affair, which, if not unprecedented, rendered it singular in the usual current of human events. The Bible was in two folio volumes, which have been justly praised for the strength and beauty of the paper, the exactness of the register, and the lustre of the ink. The work contained twelve hundred and eighty-two pages, and being the first ever printed, of course, involved a long period of time, and an immense amount of mental and mechanical labor; and yet, for a long time after it had been finished and offered for sale, not a human being, save the artists themselves, knew how it had been accomplished. Of the first printed Bible, eighteen copies are known to be in existence, four of which are printed on vellum. Two of these are in England, one being in the Grenville collection, one in the Royal Library of Berlin, and one in the Royal Library of Paris. Of the fourteen remaining copies, ten are in England—there being a copy in the Libraries of Oxford, Edinburgh and London and several in the collections of different noblemen. The vellum copy has been sold as high as £1800. James Lenox, esq., of New York City, has a copy in his library, which was purchased by Mr. Davidson, (agent for Messrs. Wiley and Putnam,) at auction in London, in 1848, for the sum of $500 stegual to $2,200 independent of freight or duties. The custom-house officers passed it free of duty in consideration of its being a curiosity. It is the only copy upon this side of the Atlantic.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

Glimpses at Gifts.

WHERE TO GO AND WHAT TO BUY.

Regardless of the weather, which is wintry indeed, eager shoppers crowd the stores in search of Christmas gifts. To aid these seekers, we continue our brief mention of what there is to find, and where to find it, and in this column give our readers a sort of supplement to the announcements of our advertisers in another place.

It is impossible to here write down everything which we have seen, nor could we convey to the mind, by the most minute descriptions, a correct idea of the numerous things which came under our observation. Our readers must see for themselves, though we hope to help them by a few hints. At

we were shown, in addition to the well-selected stock of dress goods and staple articles always to be found here, a great variety of fancy goods. There are neck ties enough for half the necks the census give us credit for having in town, and so varied are the prices and styles, that we should think every lady might find one to suit her special fancy. Embroidered handkerchiefs are marked from 25 cts. to $10. Laces, both real and imitation are shown and the lace barbes are especially noticeable. Sashes, which are pretty presents, are sold very low. Three buttoned gloves, best make, are marked $2.50, and six buttoned, in party colors, which almost made us break the 10th commandment, are only $3.00 a pair; a very desirable glove for winter wear and driving is shown in castor, for $1.50. We hope the heart of every housekeeper will be made glad with a present of one or more of the beautiful "holders" we found here. Some imported waterproofs and a few Berlin cloaks are worth looking at, their entire cost not exceeding the expense of the materials. This firm offer extra inducements to purchasers, through the holidays, they having made a great reduction in their prices. At we were almost bewildered, so varied and so numerous were the articles suitable for souvenirs, which were spread before us This lady imports her own goods and has the best of facilities for culling the choicest from the foreign market. The work of loving fingers, even if it be but a few stitches, makes a present doubly valuable to the recipient, and here are pieces of work in every stage of progression, to be finished by the purchaser; all kinds of fancy work are commenced to order, and thus half the labor is done away with. Among the gifts particularly suited to gentlemen—and every lady knows how difficult it is to find such—are lovely cigar, and shaving cases, smoking caps ready for the finishing touches by fair fingers, paper stands, watch pockets and such slippers. These last are very beautiful and are shown in entirely new styles. Those embroidered on kid are exquisite, and are only to be found at this establishment. A new satin stitch on canvas and the applique embroidery on cloth, for sofa pillows, and table covers are among the novelties. Gentlemen in search of something for a lady, not daring to rely on their own judgment—how many times we have seen a poor man in this dilemma—can not do better than call here, where they can obtain valuable assistance from ladies of rare good taste and long experience. Elegant pieces, ready to make up, are worked with floss on silk canvas; others for mats are worked on silver, gilt, and bronze card-board and all the new styles of canvas and boards are to be found here. There are frames for screens, and for towel, hat and latter racks. We saw handkerchief cases, glove boxes, beautiful sofa pillows, pretty trimmed hats and dress caps, wall pockets, pin cushions, fleecy nubias, elegant and elaborate strips for easy chairs—but we must stop somewhere and it is doubtless as easy here as further down the page. Let the ladies see the rest for themselves and let the reader go with us to.

EDWARD W. LAWTON'S

where the feminine portion of the community will find many things after their own heart. First, there are real ladies (their agreeableness is proverbial) to wait upon us and second, there is an unusually large stock of fancy goods for the holidays. Passing over the "substantials", merely glancing at a new piece of woolen dress goods of the "Dolly Varden" style, we will take a look at the pretty things which make the windows look so temptingly. There are "Alexis ties," edged with fur of course; there are seal skin caps, which would delight a Russian and which the ladies pronounce "so becoming." Dainty mouchoirs, bright sashes, comfortable foot muffs, laces, pretty needle cases and a hundred other tantalizing gifts are piled upon the counters. At we are shown some handsome dress goods, including poplins, satines, serges and silks. The American silk found here, is taking high rank in other cities among silk fabrics and will "wear like iron". A case of jewelry, fans &c., another of gay ribbons and laces and a window full of warm furs are very attractive. We cannot see how any person need go cold in these days, when astrachan muffs can be bought here at such low figures.

T. H. SEABURY.

The proverb runs thus: "a gentleman is known by the fit of his glove and by the dressing of his feet." Then let he or she who would be elegantly attired commence on one of Seabury's foundations. His boots are models of artistic taste and workmanship. At

we find a large stock, of New York and New England made boots, of nice quality. You, whose purses are heavy, make your hearts lighter and somebody's feet warmer by purchasing here a pair of substantial boots for some needy one. At in addition to the usual stock we were shown a great variety of dainty foot coverings for the babies and children. Wee kid boots, cosy little ankle ties, and "copper toes" for the boys are awaiting a transfer to pattering feet, which will make music all the day long with them.

To go to another extreme we would call the attention of the ladies, to the "loves of bonnets" at corner of Spring and Touro Streets, and that of the gentlemen, to the great variety of hats and caps at the store of

where furnishing goods of every description for the sterner sex are on exhibition. Scarfs, collars, cuffs &c., are also shown in all the new styles at

MESSRS. JOHN H. COZZENS & SON'S.

This firm have a fine assortment of cravats, ties and every article for neck wear for gentlemen. Elegance in etcetera is no small consideration in a man's attire and in both of these establishments, we find a full line of these smaller articles which go so far toward making the man.

Shocks to the System.

The first shock of winter tells tremendously upon enfeebled systems. Every one knows that in passing from a warm region to a cold one, or vice versa, the body requires as a protection against epidemics, an acclimating medicine. All travellers and voyagers admit this. It is equally necessary to acclimate the system in passing the confines of one season and entering upon another. Autumn is gone and winter is here. Prepare the frame and the constitution to meet the change by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This inestimable vegetable tonic increases the atomical strength of those who take it, and renders them proof to a great extent against the devitalizing power of cold and damp.—These two agents are as prolific of disease as tropics heat, and animal vigor—such vigor as this healthful and pure tonic diffuses through the whole organization—is a repellant which they cannot master. A large proportion of the colds, catarrhs, and pulmonary complaints which prevail in winter, might be avoided, by strengthening and regulating the system in advance with this invigorant and alterative. Not that it is recommended as a specific for those complaints, but as a preventive of their causes. On the other hand, it is not only a preventive of, but a specific for the indigestion, intestinal irregularities, malarious fevers, bilious attacks, and nervous affection, superinduced by a chilly and damp atmosphere.

EVIL EVILS.—Whoever habitually uses any alcoholic preparation as an "appetizer" will be likely to suffer from four evils, viz: an overplus of food in the stomach, impaired ability to digest it, the pains of dyspepsia, and a doctor's bill. Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, the great Tonic and Restorative of the age, without over stimulating the palate or irritating the stomach, imparts a healthful appetite, promotes digestion, regulates the liver and bowels, purifies the blood, and thus, instead of entailing four evils confers four inestimable benefits. nov.30 4w

MESSRS. FLINT & CO.—DEAR SIR:—I am only too happy to add my testimony to the many you have already acquired in relation to the medicinal qualities of Old Dr. Warren's Quaker Bitters. I have not enjoyed good health for years, and have been under the physicians care for the last thirty years, and cannot say that I have been benefited by their treatment. I have tried all the popular medicines of the day, without the least improvement. Six months ago I had a paralytic shock which completely prostrated me. Seeing your Bitters advertised, I was persuaded by my critical condition to try them, although I had tried such a variety of medicines, I did not have much confidence in anything. I have now taken four bottles and have experienced more benefit from their use than all the medicine I have ever taken in my life combined. I can truly say without hesitation that they are the best medicine ever offered to the public.

Respectfully yours, REV. M. M. BRALLY.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 11, 1870.

I have used "Dr. Bullock's Nephriticum" for several months past for a disease of the Kidneys and Bladder of ten years standing. During all that long and gloomy period I suffered at times attacks of the most excruciating pains and tried all kinds of medicines and many eminent physicians, with little relief at times, yet with no permanent, lasting benefit. At last I was induced to try "Nephriticum," and after continuing its use for a considerable period of time, I began to be benefited, and now I feel satisfied that I have obtained permanent, and, I trust, lasting relief. I still take "Nephriticum" and give to my friends. For a year past I have had no severe attacks of disease. I feel it has given me a new lease of life, and I most cheerfully and confidently recommend "Nephriticum" as a reliable, safe and sure remedy for diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys.

The Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.

The Senators who are to compose the Committee on Investigation and Retrenchment, will be Messrs. Buckingham, Howe, Harland, Stewart, Pool, Pratt and Bayard. The first six are known to the people and to the Republican party, as gentleman who will not shrink from making the most searching investigations, and who will not seek to conceal corruption, even though the administration may be arraigned as responsible for it.

Appropriations for Carrying out the provisions of the Treaty of Washington.

General Banks succeeded this afternoon in having passed the bills heretofore reported by him from the Committe on Foreign Affairs, making appropriations for carrying out the provisions of the Treaty of Washington in relation to the Geneva Arbitration and the British and American Claims Commission in Washington. General Banks made a brief explanation of the bills, but otherwise there was no discussion.

A Bendish Murder—A Colored Lawyer Murdered by two White Men.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 15. A fiendish murder was committed in lake village, Chicot county, Monday, by two white men, who killed G. W. Wynn, a young colored lawyer. The murder grew out of political differences. Intense excitement prevails. Hundreds of armed men are pouring into town. It is feared that the murderers will be taken from jail and lynched.

More Troublesome Snow Storms.

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, Dec. 15. More difficulties from snow are reported along the line of the Union Pacific Railroad. A train for the West due at Ogden yesterday afternoon arrived there this evening. The train due there this evening is reported at Rowling Station. Trouble from drifting snow is also reported this evening on the summit between Cheyenne and Laramie.

Spiritists and Spiritualists.

The estimate recently made by an English spiritualist, after a tour of careful exploration here, that we have in the United States some 600,000 spiritualists, presents a striking contrast to Judge Edmonds's estimate that his fellow-believers number five or six millions. Even Hepworth Dixon counted or reported a count of 3,000,000, and Mr. Warren Chase goes as high as 8,000,000. There is a trick in these large estimates, which may be easily exposed if we make the proper distinction between spiritists and spiritualists. An indefinitely large number of people, in and out of sects and churches, have more or less faith in notions suggested by alleged spirit manifestations—such as the doctrines of the nearness of spirit friends to us here, and communication and influence from them to us. Now all these believers in spirit nearness, communication, and influence may be called spiritualists; but none of them can be counted off into a party, much less a sect, because their spiritualism being purely spiritual and a natural extension of the spiritualism common in all quarters, does not take them apart, or take on any outward sign of distinction. But there is a movement, suggested by spirit manifestations, which does separate its adherents, and gives to them the position and disposition of a sect, as distinct, egotistic, and exclusive as any which our age can show. It is the movement to adopt spirit manifestations as a method of faith and life, to look to them and to lean on them, and altogether to make everything of actual dealings with spirits. This movement is the opposite of spiritual, and it cannot properly be designated as spiritualism. It deals with spirits as material in form and force, and depends on material manifestations made by spirits. Herein it may be entirely right; it is not spiritual, but strictly and entirely materialistic. The utmost that can be conceded to it as a designation is the term spiritism, this being understood in the limited materialistic sense. The spiritists, in this sense, which is perfectly accurate and just, do not form either a very large or a very respectable body. The movement is necessarially at a decidedly low not to say a decidedly vulgar level. It is fleshy, even if it be not sensual and devilish. It sets out from physical disturbance, as in its resort to the trance; and it demands physical signs, as in all its marvels of spirit manifestations. The appetite for these marvels, which it fosters, becomes more and more a vulgar craving for sensational demonstration. A leading lay manager of the movement once remarked to us: "It takes petticoat trance-speakers to bring out the old stags of spiritualism." This not unfriendly critic lamented the impossibility of making it pay to employ a higher class of radical speakers even in cities where the movement has most strength. There is no sect which administers its faith publicly with more meanness and stinginess than spiritists commonly show. Circumstances may be allowed largely to explain and excuse this; but the significance of the fact cannot be overlooked. The movement in its sectarian form, is a vulgar one. [N. Y. Independent.

Fattening Fowls for Market.

The fowls desired to be fattened should be placed in small, warm coops, not too many "huddled together," but so that they can have a limited range. As soon as they become reconciled to their new quarters, commence feeding them regularly three times a day—morning, noon and night. In the morning we should feed with cooked corn meal, at noon with cooked oat or barley meal and mashed potatoes; at evening feed with a mush of corn meal cooked in skim milk, if the milk is procurable. It is said this latter feed gives the flesh a rich golden hue. The coops should be kept scrupulously clean, well supplied with gravel, and provided with plenty of fresh water.

If fowls are fed in the manner here indicated, they will fatten in from ten to twelve days, when they should be killed and sent to market, or else they are liable to disease, and decline rapidly. Old fowls can, in like manner, be fattened, perfectly fat, in the course of fifteen or twenty days.

To the Public.

In presenting to the public a new article for approval, we are not unmindful of the many criticisms we invite. Our object is to say a few words in relation to the latest and best Ventilator now before the public. The subject of Ventilation, although second to none in importance, has not as yet received the attention from the public it deserves. Pure air, says an eminent Physician, is as necessary to our well being as wholesome food, stands unrivaled as a cheap ornamental means for causing a free and powerful circulation in buildings or draft in chimneys. The Hynes' Ventilator and Chimney Top consists of a straight pipe covered by a casing, the angles of which, in combination with the conical cap on top, and the apertures in the sides and around the pipe, render it impossible for the wind to blow down the pipe, but acting as they do in concert, create a powerful upward current within the pipe. The effect is the same if the wind strikes it upon the top, or quarter, or side; the draft is always up. For this reason, it is very successfully applied to chimneys that are exposed to certain winds that cause them to smoke badly, and for the same reason, it is the only top that can be used on board Ships and Steamboats; the booms may be hauled directly over it, and the wind striking the sails will slide down upon the top and cause a draft that can be obtained from no other top ever used.

HYNES' PATENT VENTILATOR

These goods which are made of the best galvanized iron, and put together in the most substantial manner, and sold at a low price, will be appreciated by the public. References furnished on application.

In point of cost, other things being equal, it is the cheapest Ventilator now before the public.

We have recently placed about one dozen of these Ventilators upon chimneys in Fort Adams, all giving perfect satisfaction.

We warrant them to give perfect satisfaction or no sale.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS,

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend any inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

THE UNDERSIGNED finds it necessary to add still another to his list of Insurance Companies. Acting on the principle of representing one but the largest and the best, he has secured the agency of which has a paid up capital and surplus of $10,000,000.

With the experience of the Chicago fire before us it is scarcely worth while to risk one's property in the small and uncertain Companies that are "just as good as any" until the time of trial comes.

☞ Look at this list:

ÆTNA, of Hartford,

(The largest Company in America,)

Assets, $6,000,000.

INSURANCE COMPANY, of North America,

(The Oldest Company in America,)

Assets, $3,000,000.

THE OLD HARTFORD,

(Established in 1810.)

Assets, $1,250,000.

PEOPLES, of Worcester,

(Ever prompt in payment of losses.)

Assets, $600,000.

ROYAL, of Liverpool, England,

ASSETS, $10,000,000.

The public will bear in mind the fact that it costs no more to insure in the above than it does in the numerous small fry concerns, such as went down in the recent disaster, and left their customers without relief. Recollect that the above figures represent the standing of those Companies after paying their losses at Chicago.

Dwelling Houses and their contents insured for three or five years at very low rates. All classes of property covered on short notice.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS

Late Abed in the Morning

Dr. Hall does not approve of the old-fashioned doctrine which was formerly instilled into the minds of children, namely, that they should spring out of bed the instant that they awoke in the morning. He says that up to eighteen years every child should be allowed ten hours to be in bed. They may not require ten hours sleep, but time should be allowed to rest in bed, after the sleep is over, until they feel as if they would rather get up than not. It is a very great and mischievous mistake for persons, old or young, especially children, and feeble or sedentary persons, to bounce out of bed the moment they wake up; all our instincts shrink from it and fiercely kick against it. Fifteen or twenty minutes spent in gradually waking up, after the eyes are opened, and turning over and stretching the limbs, do as much good as sound sleep, because these operations set the blood in motion by degrees, tending to equalize circulation; for during sleep the blood tends to stagnation, the heart beats feebly and slow, and to shock the system by bouncing up in an instant, and sending the blood in overpowering quantities to the heart, causing it to assume a gallop, when the instant before it was in a creep, is the greatest absurdity. This instantaneous bouncing out of bed, as soon as the eyes are opened, will be followed by weariness long before noon.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY

MILLIONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce St., N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No System of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.
